most teens report getting prescription drugs from their parents' medicine cabinet or from their friends (who often take drugs from their parents' medicine cabinets)